

Chat and Craft...

Conversations can be a really important part of helping to keep children safe. There's lots of different ways to have conversations, in school and at home, and crafting while chatting is one way to help a conversation feel more relaxed.

You can use this craft booklet to help start conversations about:

- where children feel safe and relaxed,
- different ways to support mental health and wellbeing,
- and to help talk about which adults children trust, feel safe with and would ask for help if they ever needed it.

If you want to join us in supporting the NSPCC so they can be there to keep children safe, they have got fantastic engagement activities with lots of free resources each term that you can get your school involved in.

- Childhood Day Mile - take part on Friday 7 June! Have fun, get active and raise money to help keep children safe.
- Kindness Challenge - In the first week of October you can support Childline and spend time creating more kindness in your school community.
- Number Day - On the first Friday in February, access exclusive free maths resources and activities. It's maths but not as you know it!

For more information about any of these fun engagement activities and how your school can get involved, contact schoolsfundraising@nspcc.org.uk or visit their schools fundraising hub at Fundraising at your school | NSPCC.

Yours

Simon Hill
Managing Director