An Introduction to Public Sector Procurement

This course is intended for people who are new to public sector procurement, or for those who simply want a refresher.

Using plain English rather than jargon, it examines the governance and legislation that drives procurement, as well as looking at elements of contract law and procedures for undertaking successful and compliant procurement within the public sector.

The Fundamentals of Contract Management

This course is suitable for anyone involved with managing contracts either now or in the future.

There is a sharpening focus on the management of contracts in the public sector. It is increasingly recognised that in order to deliver improved value for money, efficiency, levels of service, and outcomes, attention must be paid throughout the lifecycle of any contract; not just at tender stage or when things go wrong.

This course looks at both procurement and contract management cycles, paying particular attention to definitions, contract terms, practical contract management strategies, and processes.

Bespoke Learning Packages

Available at your request and can be tailored to your requirements

An Appreciation of Public Sector Procurement

This course is designed primarily for staff who aren't directly employed as procurement professionals, but whose working lives may be touched by procurement.

This no-nonsense session will attempt to demystify the procurement process, taking into account the governance and legislation that drives public sector procurement, as well as looking at elements of contract law and procedures with which the public sector, is required to comply. The session will explain the timescales, documentation and procedures which ensure compliance and, ultimately, positive outcomes for patients and service users.

Commercial Aspects of Public Sector Procurement

This course provides an introduction to commercial aspects of procurement.

It is increasingly recognised that in order to deliver improved value for money, we need to assess the profitability / liquidity of our suppliers, balanced with the need to achieve profit whilst meeting business objectives. This course will focus on calculating costings, price increases, evaluating submissions, negotiation, and the tools and strategies available to you.

We pride ourselves in keeping up-to-date with relevant legislation, guidance, and procurement trends, to ensure we consistently deliver contemporaneous training, giving you the confidence in placing your training requirements with our Academy.

Reasons to trust in YPO as your experienced Energy partner...

Reduce risk with decisions backed up by data

Further strengthening of our trading strategy and greater governance enables YPO to deliver a more active and measured approach to future market volatility and a more coherent view of future prices. With minimum and maximum triggers in place we are able to trade within a data driven decision environment, reducing risk for our customers.

Enabling councils to submit budgets with greater certainty

Providing future prices for flexible customers has been a challenge, not only for YPO but for other organisations. YPO recognise the frustration that councils experience not being able to forecast, and how this can really impact customers budgets. We have worked on our trading strategy and with our suppliers, to create a budget tool that can project costs for future trading years.

Tangible outputs that benefit Local Councils

Whilst social value has been a part of our frameworks for a while we are refocussing our efforts along with suppliers to provide tangible outputs that benefit councils. A number of initiatives are underway including distribution of a social value fund, free school workshops and an event to bring together sustainability and social value.

YPO's ongoing communication has helped schools plan with greater confidence. Their market insights into future trends have improved budgeting and forecasting.

John Sharp, Bradford City Council

Case study

From John Sharp,
Energy Team Manager,
Bradford City Council

Challenge

In 2022, energy prices surged, creating uncertainty and making it difficult for schools to forecast budgets. The need for a long-term procurement strategy became urgent, and YPO responded with a well-considered approach that addressed both immediate concerns and future risks.

Solution

YPO listened to Bradford City Council, introducing flexible terms and conditions that provided clarity and protection. Their direct communication with schools helped build trust, and their strategy was widely appreciated. As a council, we outlined our requirements for energy procurement, and YPO delivered, ensuring pricing stability and long-term visibility.

A key innovation has been YPO's benchmarking service, which allows schools to objectively assess offers from energy brokers. Rowena and her team provide expert guidance, helping schools navigate proposals and choose the best options.

Key actions included:

Educational Energy Package:

To support understanding, YPO launched an Educational Energy Package, helping schools grasp the complexities of energy procurement. This initiative empowered councils to explain the improved energy landscape and enabled schools to make informed decisions.

Webinars:

YPO's webinars for Bradford schools created a valuable platform for dialogue. Schools gained insights into budgeting scenarios, procurement risks, and contract terms. The information was pitched appropriately, treating schools as informed stakeholders rather than passive recipients.

Results

01

Since April 2024, pricing has stabilised, and YPO's ongoing communication has helped schools plan with greater confidence. Their market insight into future trends have improved forecasting and budgeting.

02

YPO's efforts have delivered pricing certainty, informative market information, protection from price peaks and troughs and supported carbon reduction.

03

Looking ahead, we see an opportunity to evolve our relationship, from client and supplier to strategic partners, building loyalty and shared success.

Staffordshire Waste Partnership undertook a joint procurement on behalf of 7 local authorities for internal and external caddies, and liners using the YPO ‘1185 Refuse and Recycling Products’ framework, to assist with our food waste product requirements. Using the framework allowed us to go out to market faster than if we opted for an open full competition, but the new framework meant we were still able to engage with a huge list of industry key players and smaller companies alike, to secure the best deal for us in a timely manner. The support from YPO throughout the process was integral to delivering a swift award that was fully compliant and achieved all our goals. We will be using YPO again in the future.

Considering International Recruitment as part of your workforce strategy?

YPO has developed the International social worker recruitment framework in partnership with London Councils and the London Innovation and Improvement Alliance (LIIA) on behalf of the Association of London Directors of Children's Services (ALDCS).

This new, first of its kind framework provides local authorities across the UK with a compliant route to market when they undertake overseas recruitment of adults and children's social workers, as part of their overall recruitment strategies.

Why choose to work with YPO on your International Recruitment?

- ✓ All social workers brought from overseas are both experienced and qualified
- ✓ There are 7 specialist providers appointed to the framework who are all registered on the NHS Ethical Recruiters' List
- ✓ The appointed providers have gone through a comprehensive evaluation process led by the partner group and a panel of local authority experts from HR, recruitment, procurement and international social worker backgrounds
- ✓ Our framework provides local authorities across the UK with a compliant route to market when they undertake overseas recruitment of adults and children's social workers
- ✓ YPO/London Councils/LIIA to facilitate best practice sharing among local authorities to bring organisations from across the UK together to explore effective overseas recruitment campaigns and retention success, supporting overseas candidates to integrate into their local communities and working collaboratively to ensure alignment to long-term workforce strategy
- ✓ Includes pre-recruitment, post-recruitment and pastoral care services

When local authorities seek to incorporate international recruitment as part of their recruitment and retention efforts across adults and children's social work, it is crucial to ensure that their efforts are compliant, ethical and cost-effective, exemplifying best practice. By providing this co-designed and developed route to market for international recruitment we can achieve value for money while ensuring the high quality of service that our communities rely on. This framework support local level staffing needs, while ensuring the long-term sustainability of our social worker workforce and the services provided.
